POETRY.

AN ALLEGORICAL ODE.

When first creation sprung to birth,
Two powers descended on the earth,
The guardian friends of man to be—
Justice and Heaven-born Liberty.

But Liberty was doomed to rove
Unblest, while men with tyrants strove;
Among mankind she found no peace,
Till sages welcomed her to Greece.

In her right hand was happiness,
All men she had the power to bless;
But Greeks could not yet be free,
And caused her from their land to flee.

An exile round the world she stray'd,
The mock of kings and tyrants made,
In every land she sought a home,
And refuge found at last in Rome.

White wisdom ruled that happy land,
She dwelt with justice hand in hand;
But when corruption cursed the state,
She fled and left it to its fate.

Now darkness reigned upon the earth,
And worse than tyranny had birth;
Despotic priestcraft ruled mankind,
And with vile arts enslaved the mind.

Then Liberty shared her disgrace,
Earth gave her not a resting place—
With Justice soon to heaven she fled,
And sages thought her truly dead.

Soon, a fair light appeared on earth—
Science awakened into birth;
And on the soil of Britain trod.

But there with kings she could not reign,
Nor Justice equal rights maintain;
She fled—while hope illumined their way,
With pilgrims to America.

Upon this soil she built her throne,
And Freedom calls this land her own;
Here may she never cease to be,
The ruler of the brave and free.

THE LAST OF THE TEA PARTY.

The visit of the venerable Mr HEWES to this city, and the deserved attentions he has received in consequence of his participation in one of the most daring acts connected with the history of the Revolution, throwing the tea overboard in Boston harbor, gives additional interest to the following pleasant narrative of that affair, which we copy from an Oration delivered in Providence, some years since, by WALTER DANE, Esq.:

"Shortly after the taking of the Gaspee, a popular demonstration of feeling in the province of Massachusetts Bay increased the general enthusiasm, while it urged Great Britain to adopt more rigid measures against their colonial subjects. The oppressive duty on tea still existed; and the legislatures of all the colonies, acting in harmonious concert, and determined not to pay tribute to their oppressor in that way, had passed laws to prohibit its importation and prevent its landing. A cargo of tea was sent by the East India company to Boston, and apprehensions were entertained by the ever vigilant patriots that it might be landed and sold; and it soon attracted a numerous party to the shore. This is the first regular tea party mentioned by grave historians. Tea parties, probably, anterior to that memorable period, had been, as they have been since, fashionable attractions to both sexes, and with them have long been associated the circulation of light scandal, innocent tattle, and agreeable gossiping; but with how much truth I will not pretend to decide. At this remarkable tea party there were three hundred and forty-two chests consumed, and the kettle in which it was steeped was Boston Bay. The servants who poured out the tea (it was poured out but not served round) were twenty stout athletic yankee boys, disguised as Indians, who, in such a servile employment, preferred that guise to their ordinary garb. At this tea party, gossip and scandal were busy, and the subjects of it were George III., and the British ministry, and parliament, and all who aided in the enforcement of their obnoxious laws. Their conduct, their motives, and their characters, were assailed in unmeasured terms. They were held up as vile, sordid and arbitrary oppressors, who were forging fitters for the hands, and yokes for the necks, of the free-born people of the Atlantic shores. These feelings extended: these patriots looked back to the early emigrants; reviewed the causes that sent them, wanderers, to this country, and solemnly resolved to cherish that same love of liberty, that same attachment to freedom, and of independence in word and deed, which had so far been a constant characteristic of the colonists."

A Runaway Match.—Some years since a student in a New England college became captivated with the beauty and refined manners and gentleness of heart possessed by the daughter of a widow lady. He was not rich, and withal rather a giddy youth. He met with a decided repulse from the mother, yet was fondly cherished in the heart of the daughter. To remove her from his stolen interviews, she was sent to the care of a brother at the south. The poor girl's fondness was undiminished by absence or distance from home, and her heart was almost broken by the determined obstinacy and unkindness of her mother. She plead with ardor and fervidly with her brother to restore her again to her home. He was pained at her anguish of mind, and yielded to her entreaties, and once more she was breathing the same atmosphere with her lover.

But the mother was still inexorable, and practised all kinds of privations upon her child, consulting her own prejudices and will, rather than the happiness of the daughter, until an elopement followed, and they were married. The generous self-devotion, and personal sacrifices and undoubting confidence and deep trust of this young and affectionate being, caused an entire change in the character of her lover. He applied himself most diligently to his profession, and soon acquired eminence, and in time accumulated wealth, and reared up a large family of children. He has held many important trusts conferred by his fellow citizens, and still occupies a high judicial station in Massachusetts. Northampton Cour.

SATURDAY MORNING, JULY 11, 1835.

PRICE $6 PER ANN. IN ADVANCE.

Stammering.—Mrs. Leigh's secret of cure for stammering has been purchased and made known by the Belgian Government, and met with approbation in Prussia. The following is the prescription as published:—

"The stammerer is to press the tip of his tongue as hard as he can against the upper row of his teeth; is to draw a deep breath every six minutes, and is to keep perfect silence for three days, during which this pressing of the tongue, and the deep inspirations are to be continued without intermission. During the night small rolls of linen are placed under the tongue, in order to give it the required direction even during sleep. When the three days have expired, the patient is to read aloud slowly to his physician for an hour. During the exercise, care is to be taken that the stammerer is never in want of breath, and he must, therefore, be made to stop frequently and inspire deeply. The patient is to be admonished to keep the tip of the tongue floating when he speaks, and never allow it to sink into the anterior cavity of the lower jaw."

A Belle of the year 1531.—Her head was encircled with a turban, or covered with a species of mitre of enormous height, from the summit of which ribbons floated in the air like the streamers from the head of a mast. Her tunic was half of one color and half of another; a zone deeply embroidered and richly ornamented with gold, confined her waist; and from it were suspended in front two daggers in their respective pouches. Thus attired, she rode in the company of her knight to jousts and tournaments.

JESSE THOMPSON is out upon me again; but he has answered me with mere slang, without exonerating himself from any of the charges I brought against him—no not so much as one. What he has stated or insinuated against me shall pass unnoticed, as I fear none of the consequences it may produce. What I have stated against him is substantially true to say the least, and is susceptible of proof. But since he says that my statements are to be believed, on my own word, I shall offer proof of what I said, and in particular others; and if I substantiate these, I shall leave it for the public to judge whether I am to be believed on my own account or not. I wish therefore to be understood as now repeating all that I have said before, all that J. T. has said to the contrary notwithstanding; and to prove that the complaints had been made to me, of which I speak, (and to whom else should they be made? for the practice was in my name,) I offer the following certificates:—

This certifies, that, sometime in the fall of 1834, I went through a course of medicine at Jesse Thompson's Infirmary, and during the course Mr. Thompson came into the room only once, and then he stopped not more than two minutes. There were four to six persons who went through the operation of steaming, all of different complaints, without even cleansing the box. I was overtaken over night, and when shown to my chamber, there were but two beds, and three persons to sleep in them, each of different complaints.

(Signed) HENRY PEARSON.
Cambridgeport, July 7, 1835.

This certifies that we attended Dr. J. Thompson's Infirmary last winter (1835). We have known from four to six persons of different disorders, go through the steam without cleansing the box. We also testify, that Dr. T. entrusted to young and inexperienced men to wait on the sick, and he gave but little or no attendance in the administration of medicine.

(Signed) JOHN TUFTS.
W. M. PRENTISS also testifies to the above before me. (Signed initials only.) P. N. F.

B. T. These two last witnesses can be produced if necessary.

A lady of East Cambridge, who attended Dr. Jesse Thompson's Infirmary in February, 1835, states that Dr. T. did not tend to her as she thought proper: that from two to four went through the steam, or what there were in one day, more or less, without cleansing the box. Also, one woman in consumption was kept with her in the same bed, who has since died, which the Doctor allowed to him to do. A patient, I, J. T., said all he wished me to say was that he did not make my wife blind. I consented to sign something to that effect on the express condition that he would not publish it. I never said that I thought she was not injured at Dr. Thompson's. My wife and daughter both will testify, that he directed the hot position, and that they were made well, and that he was a very sick boy, vomiting all night. She was directed to go into the entry and ring the bell, in that cold winter weather, (it being in the third story,) if she wanted any thing in the night. She was carried through so many courses in the first part of the time, that she thinks I weakened and injured, rather than benefited her. Her bill was from fifteen to twenty dollars in eight days. The bill for the woman that died, which I have seen with my own eyes, was $30.25 for eight days—it includes however one visit, for which $3 was charge.

So much for the want of attention, and high charges.

This certifies that about three months ago my wife went to Jesse Thompson's Infirmary and staid there a week. She was blind of one eye as the certificate states. But did her eyes no good. He put a hot poultice on her eyes instead of a cold one, as he states. I remonstrated at the time against the practice; but he said that Dr. Samuel Thomson adopted that mode and he himself approved of it. In T. said all he wished me to say was that he did not make my wife blind. I consented to sign something to that effect on the express condition that he would not publish it. I never said that I thought she was not injured at Dr. Thompson's. My wife and daughter both will testify, that he directed the hot position, and that they were made well, and that he was a very sick boy, vomiting all night. She was directed to go into the entry and ring the bell, in that cold winter weather, (it being in the third story,) if she wanted any thing in the night. She was carried through so many courses in the first part of the time, that she thinks I weakened and injured, rather than benefited her. Her bill was from fifteen to twenty dollars in eight days. The bill for the woman that died, which I have seen with my own eyes, was $30.25 for eight days—it includes however one visit, for which $3 was charge.

(Signed) LEMUEL TOBEY.

Now, reader, look at the above. Jesse says, that two persons were never steamed in the same box to his knowledge, without its being cleansed. This shows how little he attended to his business; a business too of great importance. Compare this with the proof. But he did not neglect to take from 15 to 20 dollars to pay for his services, or rather neglect of services for one week? May not this be the cause of so many of his patients? With the public mind so much agitated, it is natural for one that can not be easily deceived to make him believe he can mislead a person. He will be easily taken in, if he is not a man of sense, and will be easily imposed upon.

He will be easily imposed upon, if he is not a man of sense, and will be easily imposed upon, if he is not a man of sense.

Eradicating Liquid.—J. L. DEBLIOIS' Eradicating Liquid, prepared by W. Brown, Chemist, 481 Washington street. Price 25 cents.

A new and cheap preparation, for the removal of stains of iron, iron, trout, &c., from linen, muslin, or any other article of the finest textures, without the least injury.

The application is simple; apply a few drops of the liquid with a feather, and in most cases the stain will disappear immediately.

To be had at retail of all the principal Druggists throughout the city.

(Signed) W. M. DEBLIOIS.

B. GALE., M. D. M. S.—Would respectfully inform the subscriber on the Thomsonian principle, at his infirmary for the healing of the sick, in Harvard street, Boston, under the patronage of Dr. SAMUEL THOMSON, the Father of this system—out of the twenty years' acquaintance he has had with the same, he has had several hundred cases of disease under his care, of that character with which mankind are generally afflicted—the patients being of all ages, from the infant to the aged man—a great portion of whom have been cured, and generally all benefited—not one having died under his care at the Infirmary,—and whereas the foregoing facts ought of themselves alone, in all free, enquiring minds, completely to establish the superior efficacy of the botanical remedies of Doctor Samuel Thomson, to those of any other system.

W. M. DEBLIOIS.—There are Traders in Boston who purchase Glue of inferior quality and sell it as Short's Glue. Such conduct is of too much injury to my business, to submit to. I request that the practice shall be immediately stopped, or the public shall be informed; and they can judge what confidence can be had where such petty knavery is practiced.

SATURDAY, JULY 11, 1835.

The Tea Party.—An agreeable description of an old fashioned Tea Party, may be found upon our First page.

Office-Holders.—It has been said that the friends of the Administration must necessarily be the aristocratic party, because they are the office-holder's party. Why are they called the office-holder's party? Because they hold, perhaps, a majority of those political offices, which are the gift of the Executive. But there are various kinds of offices; and in comparison with the whole number, those which emanate directly or indirectly from the Executive, are very few. Let us consider whether the possession of every kind of office, or only of a particular kind of office, disposes the holder to be aristocratic in his principles. It is taken for granted that every man is influenced to support that cause, and those principles which are most favorable to his continuance in an honorable or lucrative office, or to his advancement to another which is more so. There are three kinds of office-holders. 1. Those who derive their office directly or indirectly from the people. 2. Those who derive their office from an authority established by the people. 3. Those who derive their office from some authority which exists independent of the people. Each of these three classes of office-holders, will, so far as they are influenced by self-interest, support the cause of that body, by whose authority they were appointed to office, so long as they are desirous of holding their station.

Hence, as a general rule, the first class of office-holders, or those who derive their office from the people, will be disposed to support the interest of the people, or of that class by whom they were chosen. The same remark may be applied to the second class of office-holders, who derive their office from an authority which is established by the people. Hence, when the President is peculiarly the choice of a majority of the people, the officers of his appointment are more likely to be favorable to the people's interest, than when the President is chosen by the intriguing of politicians in the House of Representatives—in which case he may be the choice of a minority. The third class of office-holders, or those who are appointed by an authority which exists independent of the people, are likely more than all others to form an aristocratic body—such are the officers of colleges, banks, and all monied corporations, who have often a separate interest to support from that of their fellow citizens. Just as far as the office-holders are dependent upon the will of the people for their continuance in office, will they be interested for the general welfare of the community; and just in proportion as their possession of office is independent of the will of the people, will they be inclined to form themselves into an exclusive party.

A new Science.—A Dr Pede has been lecturing in Louisville, with great success, upon a new science called Pedology, which differs from Phrenology only as far as the feet are from the head. At a recent lecture of the Doctor's, a large number of ladies and gentlemen submitted their feet for examination, and so successful was the lecturer in deciding upon their leading propensities, that he secured the unanimous approbation and applause of a very numerous and highly respectable audience. The theory of this new science has not yet been made public—but we anticipate for it a brilliant career, especially among those young ladies of a particular age who are favored with a handsome foot and ankle.

Ostinelli, Mr and Mrs Maeder, and Miss Cushman, gave a Concert at Worcester on Thursday evening—they had a large audience. The same company are to go East in a day or two—they will leave crotchetts and quavers, for pine trees and saw mills, the moment they turn their attention to "the Maine chance." "Old Johnson" is at Niblo's, accompanied by Kendall and some others from the musical department of the Tremont. The Portland papers inform us that the Warren Company, now performing in that city, have been very successful, and are in high favor with the public. One of the down East critics says he never did see anything quite up to Miss Peby. Mr and Mrs Andrews, Miss Woodward, and Mr Conner, are Concerting at Portland.

More "Enthusiasm."—The Advocate states that at the whig Convention in Rhode Island, which nominated Mr Webster for the Presidency, thirteen members were present. The convention originally consisted of about thirty-seven, and when the nomination was proposed, many retired, leaving thirteen, as is stated, and not exceeding fifteen, present to pass the resolution.

Gen. Patterson, of Philadelphia, who was a firm Jackson Democrat when we knew him a few years since, and we have no doubt he is now, has been elected Major General of the First Division, Pennsylvania Militia, having received the unanimous vote of the City Brigade, and twenty-four out of the twenty-nine votes of the County Brigade.

Impolite.—The Advocate states that Mr A. H. Everett, being at the celebration at Worcester on the 7th, was called upon to speak—that when he made the attempt he was treated with great incivility and rudeness, and that all attempts to restore order were in vain; when he rose, the first salutation from various quarters was "no empty buckets in Worcester."

Gen. Garrison is trying to eat himself into the Vice Presidency—he late partook of a public dinner tendered him by the citizens of Brookville, Ind., and has two more invitations in his pocket which he will accept if his last meal digests well.

Col. Stone of the N. Y. Commercial Advertiser, has written a history of the Impositions of Matthias—he had now better write a more extensive work, viz.:—A History of the Impositions of the Whig Party—all of which he has seen, and a part of which he is.

The amount of property destroyed by the tornado at New Brunswick exceeds $100,000. A meeting has been held in New York for the purpose of raising funds to aid the sufferers.

The N. Y. Journal of Commerce says—"This city continues remarkably healthy. The number of deaths during the week ending on Saturday morning last, was only 91."

Timber Lands.—The following paragraph, copied from the New York Star, shows the great value of the Maine Timber Lands:

"The White Pine, the most valuable of all the fourteen species described by Michaux as belonging to our continent, is becoming scarce throughout New England, except in Maine, where its great abundance gives the chief value to the extensive timber tracts for which that State is celebrated. To prevent its total extinction, it is proposed to plant nurseries of it."

As the communication signed "A New Englander," was intended more for the benefit of the Editor of the N. E. Magazine than any one else, we have sent it to him, that he may enjoy the advantage of it exclusively.

We are soon to have here a hydro-oxygen microscope, from Philadelphia. The Chinese Lady is to be here in a few days—Miss Afong Moy.

William O'Meary, arrested on a charge of robbing the Darien Bank, has been discharged, no evidence being found to justify his detention.

For the Boston Morning Post.

THE ROXBURY CAVE.

Mr. Editor.—This fresh wonder has excited the attention of people, to nearly as great an extent, and for as sound reasons, as did the extraordinary horse once exhibited, whose tail was where his head should be.

The world is composed of such inflammable materials, that, to fan it to a flame, it is only necessary to add a few grains of the marvellous and mysterious.

Geologists, surcharged with knowledge of primitive formations, fresh from the Silliman school, having attended nearly half of the lectures of that accomplished gentleman, seem disposed to avail themselves of this imaginary Grotto, as a kind of stock, upon which to engrave the scions of their newly acquired knowledge. Visits, from the gray of the morning until the evening shades spread their subtle mantle over hill and dale, (and caves,) have thronged about this memorable spot, to be in the early possession of its qualities and structure. It is said that a pupil of Professor Hitchcock came to examine the Grotto, with the express view to obtain some valuable items of natural history to swell the scientific treasury of his own Alma Mater, but that he was turned from his purpose, and induced to retrace his steps from the following incident. When in anxious pursuit, and as he supposed not far behind the consummation of his wishes, he met a shrewd looking old man and interrogated him in the brief language of earnestness, "where's the Cave?" The man, intending only to repeat the word, the leading object of the question, but stammering and with Stentorian emphasis, bawled out Ca-Ca-Cave—the learned son of Amherst supposing that in compliment to himself, the man answered in Latin, which is the same as beware, or look out for breakers, as a sailor would say, turned upon the cackling of a goose. It is a truth that a gentleman of acknowledged talents and taste, firmly believing that all the legendary tales connected with this affair were true, undertook to explore this hole in the earth; in advance of the sun he was on the place, with utensils sufficient to make a cave even if there was none before; he found a small opening under a rock, which by great personal effort he so enlarged as to admit his body to pass in; he found the extent about twenty feet, but so narrow as to excite doubts as to his power to turn about, he however emerged from the gloomy retreat in safety. This gentleman has been rather cossive as to his communications since his subterranean exploit, fearing that he should be numbered with the hoaxes; he may however well say, that he has been where no man had been before, but from certain evidences, he had the most palpable and convincing reasons to conclude, that some other animal had pre-occupied the place. He went into the hole full of hope and joy, but returned covered with dirt. Curiosity has not yet been satisfied; there are those who daily perform this short pilgrimage to Mecca; perhaps some may indulge the hope of finding the spot where repose the ashes of the Apostle Eliot, which fact, strange as it may seem, no record on paper or stone has preserved. Roxbury, it is true, has many natural beauties, and art is lending her helping hand to give to it facilities and charms, unrivaled by any portion of American territory; those who think it an object to rear their children in a pure atmosphere, who value good schools, and good preaching, with the permanent means of ingress and egress to and from the city, show a good taste and prudent calculations, by making Roxbury the place of their abode—we would also add that no land was ever more fruitful in great stories and great story-tellers—and of both these I would repeat the latin imperative verb used to rescue our learned student, as above, and as a salutary admonition to all, say—of great stories and great story-tellers—care.

A bold stroke for a hat.—Daniel H. Stratton drove up to H. H. Leavitt's hat store, in Court street, in a dashing sulky, with the dignified air of a patientless practitioner, whose diploma as M. D. was scarcely dry. Having alighted, he entered the store, and straddled about like a cash customer, flush of the rhino. He soon fixed his fancy on a beaver, but biggled like a most pestiferous cheapskate, about the price, but not succeeding in beating down the clerk to half the prime cost, he suddenly went out of the store, threw the hat into his sulkey box, and then attempted to mount and drive off, but was immediately secured and arrested by constable Andrews. Fined, $4.00, and costs; and if not paid in 10 days, 3 months in the house of correction. As he has made contradictory statements about the sulkey it is supposed that he stole it. It is now in the custody of constable Loring.

Motherly yearning and imprecation.—Margaret Rigny was discharged from the House of Correction on Monday, and before the end of the week was carried to the watch-house three times, and at her last arrest showed fight. She appeared to foresee her destiny as soon as put to the bar:—"Yer honor surely wont send me to the House of Correction, jest for trying to defend myself. But if ye must send me somewhere, let it be to the alms-house, where me pur infant babe lies sick. You cannot tell how it would glad my breaking heart to see my child."

Court.—We cannot think of sending one who has been in the house of correction six times, to the alms-house.

Margaret.—Thin may the death of me child be upon the head of the scoundrel of a watchman, that brought me to this pass.

Another Respite.—Francisco Ruiz, the carpenter of the piratical schooner Panda, whose execution was fixed for to-day, has been respite for a further period of two months, in consequence of his supposed insanity.

Drowned.—In Connecticut River, on Saturday last, Jane, aged 15, eldest daughter of Mr Hezekiah Burr—us we understand, this girl was sent to the river for a pail of water, and in the act of getting it, slipped in and was drowned; the body was found in the course of the afternoon.

Also—the body of an unknown man was found floating and was taken up, just below where the above girl was drowned, whilst our citizens were in search of her body. It had apparently been in the water several weeks, and was on Sunday morning decently interred. Hartford (Ct.) Times.

A destructive hail storm and tornado occurred on Saturday, the 26th ult., in parts of the counties of Cumberland, Sampson, Bladé and Robeson, North Carolina, which in some instances totally destroyed all prospect of a crop. The hail was in some places eighteen inches deep, and some of the masses measured, from extreme points, four inches. Much suffering has been produced.

Incendiaries are still at work in Charleston. A cotton shed was set on fire on the 2nd, by a train of combustibles, but the flames, being seasonably discovered, were extinguished without much damage.

A sale of 7222 shares of the Bank of South Carolina took place on the 2nd. The price ranged from $60 1-8 to 61 3-4. The principal sales were at $60 1-8a-8.

Accident.—On Monday afternoon, while several persons were engaged in taking down the Pavilion on Beverly common, a timber fell and struck Mr SAM'L D. TURNER, one of the Committee of Arrangements, and broke his leg just above the ankle. We are gratified to state, that the report that amputation was necessary, was incorrect, and that he is doing well.—Salem Register.

Police War.—The Cincinnati Republican makes loud complaints against the Police of that city. It alleges that quiet and unoffending citizens and strangers have been knocked down with bludgeons in the streets by the watchmen, and when desperately wounded, have been thrust into the watch house.

Fatal Result.—Three men, and their wives, all belonging to New York, were upset in a boat on the Hudson river, on the 4th of July, and one of the females drowned.

POLICE COURT.

A Female Fighter.—Quite a lady-like woman, answering to the call of "Catherine Riley," is a very regular attendant at Court as a prisoner. She seems only to exist to fight, and to fight for existence—a scrimmage is to her "daily bread,"—yea, bed, board, washing, and recreation. Last week she was brought up for beating her neighbor, Mrs Williams, over the head with a pair of tongs. She thought "no respectable person would come to court about such a trifling; besides Mrs Williams struck me first with a broomstick." Upon this point Bridget Dee, who was present at the hostile interview, was called upon to elucidate, which she did to the sad discomfiture of the unfortunate Mrs Riley—"It's never a sign of a weepion she had in her hand," said Bridget; and "two dollars and the costs," said the Court. Having paid her fine, she left the Court with no very friendly feelings towards Bridget, and on the first opportunity she came the broomstick over her head, and for the assault was again marched up to Court. The attack with the broom was fully proved by a gentleman witness, who added, by way of a make weight—"Mrs Riley has a great gift of slander, which always keeps her in hot water, with her neighbors." This is the first time, probably that a slanderous tongue was ever termed a "great gift." As the sentence was about being announced, she said to the Court—"If you'll be good enough to put back the law till I can get a witness that saw her strike me first, I'll send for one—I think Molly Barr could say as much as that for me." But instead of "putting back the law," his honor put it forth, to the tune of another $2.00 and costs.—The next night, Mrs. Riley and Mr. Morris Dee met in the yard, and she requested of him, the favor of a light from his lamp. "I think it's rather strange that you should be asking a favor of me, Mrs Riley, when you've beaten and abused me wife, after the fashion that you did, Mrs Riley," replied Dee to her application. "I wants nothing at all to do with the likes of any body of your sort," continued he, as he slammed the door in her face, and bursting it open, grappled with him. He pushed her away once, but she returned to the charge with her lamp, with which she gave him a severe bruise below the left eye. "Do you mane to swear I'm such a tyrant as to follow a man and strike him, Mistur Dee?" "Yes, as I'm on my book out, and have a soul to save, I do, Mistur Riley." "Very well, thin, it's no use for me to say any more, if that's the way you're going to undo me." Fined $2.00 and costs again, which, as her treasury had been completely drained by the two preceding drafts on it, she was unable to pay, and was committed to jail for the want thereof.

A bold stroke for a hat.—Daniel H. Stratton drove up to H. H. Leavitt's hat store, in Court street, in a dashing sulky, with the dignified air of a patientless practitioner, whose diploma as M. D. was scarcely dry. Having alighted, he entered the store, and straddled about like a cash customer, flush of the rhino. He soon fixed his fancy on a beaver, but biggled like a most pestiferous cheapskate, about the price, but not succeeding in beating down the clerk to half the prime cost, he suddenly went out of the store, threw the hat into his sulkey box, and then attempted to mount and drive off, but was immediately secured and arrested by constable Andrews. Fined, $4.00, and costs; and if not paid in 10 days, 3 months in the house of correction. As he has made contradictory statements about the sulkey it is supposed that he stole it. It is now in the custody of constable Loring.

Motherly yearning and imprecation.—Margaret Rigny was discharged from the House of Correction on Monday, and before the end of the week was carried to the watch-house three times, and at her last arrest showed fight. She appeared to foresee her destiny as soon as put to the bar:—"Yer honor surely wont send me to the House of Correction, jest for trying to defend myself. But if ye must send me somewhere, let it be to the alms-house, where me pur infant babe lies sick. You cannot tell how it would glad my breaking heart to see my child."

Court.—We cannot think of sending one who has been in the house of correction six times, to the alms-house.

Margaret.—Thin may the death of me child be upon the head of the scoundrel of a watchman, that brought me to this pass.

Another Respite.—Francisco Ruiz, the carpenter of the piratical schooner Panda, whose execution was fixed for to-day, has been respite for a further period of two months, in consequence of his supposed insanity.

Drowned.—In Connecticut River, on Saturday last, Jane, aged 15, eldest daughter of Mr Hezekiah Burr—us we understand, this girl was sent to the river for a pail of water, and in the act of getting it, slipped in and was drowned; the body was found in the course of the afternoon.

Also—the body of an unknown man was found floating and was taken up, just below where the above girl was drowned, whilst our citizens were in search of her body. It had apparently been in the water several weeks, and was on Sunday morning decently interred. Hartford (Ct.) Times.

A destructive hail storm and tornado occurred on Saturday, the 26th ult., in parts of the counties of Cumberland, Sampson, Bladé and Robeson, North Carolina, which in some instances totally destroyed all prospect of a crop. The hail was in some places eighteen inches deep, and some of the masses measured, from extreme points, four inches. Much suffering has been produced.

Incendiaries are still at work in Charleston. A cotton shed was set on fire on the 2nd, by a train of combustibles, but the flames, being seasonably discovered, were extinguished without much damage.

A sale of 7222 shares of the Bank of South Carolina took place on the 2nd. The price ranged from $60 1-8 to 61 3-4. The principal sales were at $60 1-8a-8.

Accident.—On Monday afternoon, while several persons were engaged in taking down the Pavilion on Beverly common, a timber fell and struck Mr SAM'L D. TURNER, one of the Committee of Arrangements, and broke his leg just above the ankle. We are gratified to state, that the report that amputation was necessary, was incorrect, and that he is doing well.—Salem Register.

Police War.—The Cincinnati Republican makes loud complaints against the Police of that city. It alleges that quiet and unoffending citizens and strangers have been knocked down with bludgeons in the streets by the watchmen, and when desperately wounded, have been thrust into the watch house.

Fatal Result.—Three men, and their wives, all belonging to New York, were upset in a boat on the Hudson river, on the 4th of July, and one of the females drowned.

Intolerance.—It is astonishing to us that so much intolerance on the subject of religion should exist in our country as we find in many places to prevail. We boast of our liberality, and the freedom which is allowed to every man among us to judge for himself upon all matters of the kind. We talk about the liberty of conscience which is universally enjoyed among us, and about every man being permitted to worship God according to the dictates of his own judgment. And while we boast of our own privileges upon this subject, and the liberty which is universally enjoyed, we condemn other countries for their intolerance. And yet we find among many the indulgence of the same disposition, to a considerable extent, which we so much condemn. Intolerance in religious matters makes no proselites, and persecution for opinion's sake never convinces a man that his views are incorrect. If a man's reason cannot be convinced, and if a man cannot be induced, by argument, to renounce his errors, it is very certain that coercive measures will never produce the effect of prevailing upon him to do so, with the sincerity of heart which would render his apparent conversion acceptable in the sight of his Creator.

In the present Constitution of North Carolina, there is a religious test which excludes from the right to hold office every man except a protestant. As there is now a convention in session which is engaged in forming a new Constitution, we should have supposed that such a provision would have been entirely excluded, and that an equality of privileges would have been extended to men holding different sentiments, provided their sentiments did not militate against the peace and good order of society. But we find that such has not been the fact. The same provision has been retained, with the exception of substituting christian for protestant. Consequently Jews will be excluded from the privilege of holding office, whatever may be their integrity and capacity, under the new Constitution as well as under the old one. We knew that much bigotry and intolerance in such matters prevailed in some of the states to the eastward of us; but we did not expect to see it so far South as North Carolina, and we regret that we have been disappointed in the sight of his Creator.

ASSESSORS' NOTICE.

Assessor's Office, Faneuil Hall, Boston, July 6, 1835.

THE ASSESSORS having taken the valuation of all the Real and Personal Estates within the city of Boston, for the current year, hereby give notice that ten days will be allowed for the citizens to examine the amounts at which their respective estates have been estimated—and any reasonable complaint or statement will be attended to by a committee, and acted upon at an adjourned meeting of the Board.

The Assessors further give notice, that there has been an unusual number of alterations in the valuation of estates, and although great labor and care have been exercised, yet it is possible some errors may have taken place; therefore it is respectfully requested that the citizens will call within the specified time, and see the respective amounts on which they are proposed to be assessed, as no alteration can be made after Thursday, July 16.

CURRENT HAND WRITING.

Mr FOSTER's method of instruction is so simple and effective as to eradicate the most irregular scrawl, and to substitute a neat, rapid and beautiful style of writing.

This establishment is intended as a nursery for penmanship on undisputed principles; and as a barrier against the encroachment of depraved taste and assumed talent, so frequently pressed upon the notice of the public.

Hours of instruction from 7 to 12 A. M.; 2 to 5 P. M.; and 7 to 10 o'clock in the evening.

BOOK-KEEPING.

In this art an attempt is to be made to teach whatever belongs to the well regulated COUNTING HOUSE. Such rules and examples only are retained, as are necessary to elucidate the principles of the art, and give a connected view of the whole; by which book keeping is so simplified that its principles soon become familiar, and their application to every transaction in trade easy.

ACCOUNTANTSHIP.

B. F. F. continues to write up, post, and balance merchants' books—to examine and rectify books or accounts gone into—solving complicated or disputed accounts—and to furnish plans of books, adapted to the business, and to teach the most simple, concise and approved forms.

A regular apprenticeship in an extensive mercantile establishment, and several years' subsequent practice as an accountant and book keeper, he trusts is a sufficient qualification for his undertaking.

MASSACHUSETTS BOTANIC INFIRMARY

Or, Thompsonian Hospital—for the reception of the sick and lame, situated on the bank of the Boston and Worcester Railroad, No 55 Washington st, with a view of the railroad and surrounding country to the West, and Boston Harbour, its shipping and Islands on the East.

The Infirmary has been additionally fitted up in a style not surpassed by any other in the State, for convenience and comfort. The Rooms spacious and airy; the Prospect on the East and West very pleasant.

The whole establishment will be under the personal care of Dr J. A. Brown, formerly of the Tremont Infirmary, and for some years past Botanic Physician in the city, during which time he attended or prescribed for several thousand persons, to whom Patients can be referred for further information.

Dr. D. BADGER, a Proprietor, who has had considerable acquaintance with the system, will superintend the medical department, together with other faithful and experienced assistants. The female department will be under the immediate superintendence of Mrs. Brown, as formerly, as is by Mrs. Badger, who has for a considerable time been in the Massachusetts General Hospital, and pronounced by Dr. Warren the best nurse he ever had. But from seeing the good effects of the Vegetable system in restoring a child given up to die, has for several years past had considerable experience in the Thompsonian system in practice.

The subscribers, please themselves, that nothing shall be wanting on their part to make all who may favor them with a call, both comfortable and perfectly satisfied.

The price will be the same as heretofore, to be paid in advance, with fifty per cent discount, to such as are really objects of charity.

All charges for attendance will be refunded where the medicine does not appear as recommended.

For Sale as above—Syrups for coughs and colds—Anti-Diabetic Bitters, together with a general assortment of Vegetable Medicines, wholesale and retail, at fair prices.

NATHANIEL P. SNELLING respectively gives notice, that he is now prepared to execute any orders in the line of his profession at the shortest notice and in the most workmanlike manner, having made extensive alterations by the addition of the store, adjoining the original improvements, which will enable him to conduct a genteel Patent Establishment on the most extensive scale, and by strict attention to the care of least, to merit a share of public patronage. Having made arrangements with Merchant Tailors in New York and Philadelphia to transmit immediately on arrival the London Fashions, which will enable gentlemen to furnish themselves in the first style, and sooner than can be procured in any other establishment in this city.

N. P. S. has just received from New York a splendid assortment of Clean Cassimeres, and Fancy Vesting. Gentlemen are requested to call and examine for themselves, particularly some splendid Cloting and London Quiltings.

N. P. S. continues the business of Tailors' Chalk, an article well known by the trade as being well adapted to drawing lines on stuffs, and is easily erased.

Also, a large assortment of Tape Measures, some of them a first rate article, which is much wanted by the trade in general.

For Orders of any of the above will be promptly attended to it addressed to NATHANIEL P. SNELLING, 116 and 12 Congress street, Boston.

TURE BEAR'S OIL may be had by the groce, dozen or single bottle, of A. BOYDEN, Hancock, 5th st.

In all cases, so especially in this, Venders, who wish to secure the patronage of the public, should be extremely cautious not to sell an article for the Hair which tends to counter-act rather than assist nature.

The virtues of Bear's Oil have been too long tested to need any argument, at this time no one can doubt of its being the very best article for strengthening and promoting the growth of the Hair. An old physician against the use of Bear's Oil has long existed, arising from two causes—the improper method of putting it on, and the use of a spurious article. That this prejudice may be wholly removed, this article now offered is warranted the pure Oil, rendered more pleasant by the addition of a little perfume, and the possibility of its injuring the Hair is entirely precluded by the manner in which it has been purified. To prevent fraud, the genuine is enclosed in two wrappers, the inside one being signed Arnold Boyden.

DR. CERLIEUS'S CELEBRATED OINTMENT—A sovereign remedy for the Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Leprony and all other Cutaneous complaints. These dreaded diseases, which are met with so much reluctance by the physician and the public, are universally unsuccessful, have at length found a certain relief in Dr Cerlieus's Ointment. This article has stood the test of experience and justly gained unexampled celebrity. It has in three or four weeks cured cases of more than thirty years standing, which had defied the art of the most experienced physicians and resisted the power of every other remedy that could be devised. It immediately removes the scab of the skin, and restores its original color and smoothness. Sold wholesale and retail by ANDREW GUYER, No 104 Hanover street. Price 50 cents per bottle. A liberal discount to those who buy to sell again.

Operations on the Teeth.

DR. I. H. APPLETON respectfully informs his friends and the public generally, that he continues at No 11 Winter street, Boston, where he is prepared to perform all the operations of DENTAL SURGERY; viz; removing tartar and discolorations from the teeth, restoring diseased and spongy gums to a healthy state, cleansing and removing caries from decayed teeth, and filling them with gold, so as to render them as useful as before, and no more liable to decay than those that are perfectly sound.

He also attends to the making and inserting of all kinds of Artificial Teeth.

THE PORCELAIN, or INCORRUPTIBLE TEETH inserted on gold plates, from one to a full set, in the most approved manner.

THE regulating of children's teeth, will receive his special attention.

Having for more than fifteen years devoted himself to the profession, he confidently believes he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who may favor him with their patronage.

He begs leave to inform the public that he has availed himself of the services of a skilful and scientific gentleman from Philadelphia, to assist him in his operations.

Dr. A. has prepared and used, for more than fifteen years, the COLUMBIAN LOTION, which has been proposed by hundreds of individuals, and is highly recommended by eminent Physicians of this city, to be an excellent remedy for counteracting the pernicious effects of calomel, unpleasants of breath, spongy or inflamed gums, and other diseases of the mouth.

He prepares also the COLUMBIAN TOOTH POWDER, for diseased teeth and gums, and the PEARL DENTIFRICE, for purifying the breath and whitening the teeth, and constantly keeps on hand an assortment of Tooth and Sponge Brushes of his own selecting.

A. JONES'S VEGETABLE HAIR OIL, for restoring Hair on Bald Heads, strengthening and fortifying the Roots against the causes which operate so powerfully in their decay and destruction.

VEGETABLE PULMONARY BALMS, is the most valuable remedy now in use for coughs, colds, asthma or phthisis, whooping cough and pulmonary affections of every kind. Its sale is steadily increasing and the proprietors are constantly receiving the most favorable account of its effects. The following new certificates are offered for public examination.

From Dr Samuel Morrill to the Proprietors of the Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam.

I am satisfied that the Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam is a valuable medicine. It has been used in this place with complete success in an obstinate complaint of the lungs, attended with a great degree of acidity of the stomach, and redundancy of bile. For several months past she has taken Sears's A. H. V. Renovating Pills, and has experienced more benefit from them than she has ever received from any medicine.
